

AREA STUDIES: English Speaking Countries

In this course we will be learning about the The 5 Themes of Geography and how they apply to areas around the world where English is the Native Language such as The USA, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and Great Britain.

A Major portion of this course will be dedicated to the area of The United States as we will have a native speaker presenting this area. We will discuss the vast areas that span from The Atlantic to The Pacific Ocean, the diverse people, customs, and languages, and the impact that these areas have on the rest of the USA and the world.

Afterwards we will be covering the rich history and extensive provinces of Canada as well as the beautiful scenes and demographics of New Zealand along with the culture and traditions of their "Down Under" counterpart Australia. There will also be time spent focusing on Great Britain and its influence on the rest of the world.

There is extensive work and lecturing about the specific areas accompanied by a myriad of powerpoints and videos to help gain a further visual understanding of these numerous places. As we explore the different people, places, and ideas of these different areas, the teacher's own history and experiences will play a large roll having experienced a lot of these locations on a first-hand basis. It will be a very informative tour around the far corners of the Earth and open your eyes to a whole new world of wonder, beauty, and culture.

After a substantial amount of knowledge has been passed down to the students, they will be required to give a presentation on a specific area of The United States to their fellow students. This will be their chance to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of the themes of geography as well as an ability to showcase their research and findings. The project will be accompanied by visuals, media, and a small lecture. It will also give the student a chance to practice their speech amongst their peers who are always supportive and excited to undertake such a task.

By the end of the school year, we will have a vast understanding of Native English speaking countries around the world. They will be well informed and be able to effectively explain and navigate these regions as well as having the ability to understand and interpret why their cultures have the allure that they do and how they affect the world around us.
